	Chayav (Liable) (But still punishable Derabanan even if not chayav )	Explanation
Performs entire act from beginning to end of forbidden labour (minimum measure or more) intentionally	✓
Performs labour partially with intent and partially unintentionally	✗
Performs act without intention and it is unclear whether a forbidden labour will eventuate.	✗	e.g. Drags a bed and bed makes a furrow (making a furrow is forbidden)
Performs act without intention but a forbidden labour will certainly eventuate.	✓	e.g. cuts off head of chicken to use head for a toy – psik resha . For sure the chicken will die.
Intended one forbidden labour, but another forbidden labour resulted.	✗	Intent was not carried out
Intended to do a forbidden act on one item but by accident did same act on different item.	✓	e.g. Put out one candle instead of other.
Wanted to pick a black fig, and instead picked a white	✗	Intent was not carried out
Carried out forbidden act more effectively than intended	✓	Intention achieved

Carried out forbidden act less effectively than intended	×	Intention not achieved
Did not finish forbidden act intended but completed the shiur needed to incur liability	✓	e.g. He wrote the first 2 letters of an intended word. He is chayav even though his intention was not completed
Two people do a forbidden labour together where each could have done it himself	×	e.g. Carrying a light article together
Two people perform this labour where they were not able to perform individually	✓	e.g. carrying a very heavy article together
Forbidden labour carried out destructively	×
